The car will be on display during August at the Citizens National Bank and at the First National Bank during September.

On Annexation Plans

Council Splits Vote

A split vote was recorded Tuesday evening when the city council voted to approve the first reading of an ordinance that would add some 380 acres to the city by annexation.

Two councilmen, Tommy Corley and Lincoln Mondrik, voted against approval of the measure while affirmative votes were cast by Dale Smith, Ernest Moore and Jan Luecke.

However, vote was unanimous on a motion to express the intention of the city to see that pasture land annexed will continue in its present state as long as it belongs to the present owners.

Next step in annexation is publication of the ordinance followed in 30 days by the second reading of the ordinance which will probably be at the second August council meeting. It pointed out that anyone can contest the proposal and receive a hearing before final action is taken.

CDA Director A.W. McCullin noted that there are complaints from west Cameron residents that the city is levying sewer charge on people in Alabama Town whether or not they are hooked up to sewer, while other areas that have not hooked up are not charged.

A city ordinance requires all dwellings within 100 feet of the city sewer line to hook up to the line.

Dwight Price Jr. came and asked that a road between his and the Gilbert property be opened. The street committee and the mayor will look at the area before decision is made.

Mayor Lawrence Zotz also asked the street committee to survey city streets for setting priorities on repairs and improvements.

Corley reported that the Chamber of Commerce was receptive to working out plans for a joint building to house its office and a new city hall. Preferred location is on the corner next to the library.

McCullin said Farmers Home Administration could be approached for a loan for the building, and the city would have to call a bond issue.

He suggested letting citizens vote on a five-part package to include sewer and water imporvements, work on the water plant, a municipal building, and renovation of the present city hall for police department offices.

He urged the city to look ahead and make plans for growth within the next ten years.

Corley said he was in favor of going ahead now with plans for the building, instead of waiting the long time for McCullin's plan. No decision was made except that the council committee will continue to work with the Chamber committee on plans and cost estimates.

Councilman Dale Smith reported complaints from a resident about burning limbs and trees at the city dump, and said the burning had been reported to the state. Works Supt. Walter Wallace said he did not know who had set the fire Thursday, that it started after the dump ground closed.

Tommy Chamberlin said the city had a real problem burying limbs and trees, and said another problem is out-of-town residents using the dump. He also said some land used for the dump had not been properly covered and trash is sticking out of the ground.

Salary Hikes To Cost, Says County Judge

Milam County elected officials' salaries have increased on an average of 90.85 percent over the last eleven years, without an increase in either county tax or evaluations, but this is no longer possible, County Judge O.B. Harden said this week.

The county has run over the 1977 budget some $146,025 so far, and this may mean a $150,000 deficit by the end of the year. Harden said hopefully collections of fines and fees will keep the deficit from being that large.

He said the county needs $37 to $38 million valuations added to the tax roll to break even on its present budget. Present assessed valuation is $49,118,921. Tax rate is 95 cents on 20 percent market value.

Harden said land on the tax roll averages $10-$11 per acre valuation.

About $380,000 in revenue is raised from taxes, while fines and fees add to the county's funds. Harden said this income is not controllable and no increase is seen in these fees.

Of the county's funds, 53 cents of each 95 cents goes to county road and bridge funds while 42 cents goes into the operating fund. The abundance of creeks and rivers in the county adds to the cost of maintaining county roads, Harden added.

The county also went over its budget last year, but had surplus funds built up in other years to cover the deficit.

Judge Harden showed figures on elected officials' salaries, camparing 1966 to 1977. Largest increase was for the county attorney, who had $5000 which the state was paying to the county added to his salary at the request of a county grand jury.

The county judge's salary increased 62 percent from $6670 to $10,800; county commissioners 104 percent from $5280 to $10,800; county attorney 144 percent from $6134 to $15,000; tax assessor-collector 68 percent from $6428 to $10,800; county clerk 76 percent from $6128 to $10,800.

Sheriff's deputies salaries increased 123 percent for chief and 154 for deputies, from $3900 and $3420 to $87-00. Precinct employes' salaries increased 100 and 106 percent with machinery operators' increased from $33-30 to $6674 other workers from $3150 to $6480.

Good Farm Land May Go Begging

(Editor's Note: Milam County Agent Bill McCutchen's column usually appears on the farm page, but this week his news concerns the whole community, not just farmers.)

By Bill McCutchen

So you think Farming and Ranching is a gravy train? If so you will have ample opportunity to get into the farming business in 1978. Right now it looks like some good farm land may go begging in 1978. Why? Because there just isn't a way to make ends meet with present prices and high input costs.

If you have a way to make money with $2 per bushel wheat, $3 per hundred grain sorghum, 30¢ calves, or 5¢ per pound tomatoes you can certainly find cropland available next year.

Right now however quite a few farmers are cutting back on cropland acreage for 1978 or looking for other employment.

With so many people not working at all and some not wanting to work it is a real shame that the one truly efficient industry in the nation isn't returning enough profit to keep producers in business.

Wheat yields were excellent this year but wheat was unprofitable unless it was combined with a stocker operation. Grain sorguhm yields will be good to excellent over much of the county but $3 grain sorghum is only a break even venture with good yields and will not pay the bills with a fair crop.

About the only commodity that has a chance of making money is cotton which will hopefully be in the 60¢ per pound range at harvest time. This doesn't mean that cotton prices are high, but that they are making a fair rate of return.

If you have always wanted to farm now is your chance. I don't think you will have much trouble in getting farmland but don't be surprised if you have a hard time borrowing operating capitol.

Counties Succeeding Less...

Let's talk some town and country realities.

Farm prices are low, according to County Agent Bill McCutchen, reporting $2 wheat per bushel, $3 per hundred grain, and 30-cent calves per pound.

Granted.

City sales taxes here are running 28 per cent ahead of the same month a year ago, while Rockdale's city sales tax is up 22 per cent same month over a year ago. And the nearest town of size to Milam County, Rosebud, notes a 19 per cent increase.

And the County of Milam is running an estimated $140,000 plus over budget, partially due to increased salaries, but generally due to increased costs of operating anything.

Granted.

That means agri-business compared to a few years ago is not as good while industrial and community and business development in Cameron, Rockdale and other towns in Cen-Texas is measureably better.

No one sets the price of commodities in Milam County or Central Texas. These are established in the marketplace and by governmental influences.

Costs in terms of wages, salaries and material costs in other phases of economics affecting this area are established by marketplace costs, government regulation and wage factors.

News Briefs

Stabbing Reported

Charges of aggravated assault were filed on a Cameron woman Saturday night following a stabbing incident at 605 Newhouse Street in Cameron earlier that evening.

Ernestine Clifton was released on $1-000 bond after she was arrested by Cameron police and charged with the stabbing of her husband, George Clifton.

Clifton was rushed to Scott and White Hospital in Temple from Cameron with a stab wound in the throat about 5:47 p.m. Saturday, according to police reports. The stabbing occured at Clifton's home.

Acting on a warrant issued by Justice of the Peace Jess Brock, the woman was arrested in connection with the stabbing shortly after 7.

Clifton was in satisfactory condition at the hospital, a spokesman said.

New Store Planned

The City of Cameron issued a building permit for a new hardware store to be built at the intersection of Hwys 36 and 190 and North Orchard St., across from the Cameron Smokehouse.

The permit was issued to Elton Coward, owner of the new business, and it will be called Cam-Tex Hardware.

Plans call for a steel building with an excess of 6,000 square feet of space, storage room at the back, and 30 or more off-street parking spaces.

Tax Rebates Increase

City sales tax rebates in Cameron are running a healthy 28 percent ahead of last year, according to figures released by State Comptroller Bob Bullock.

The city's July share of the one percent city sales tax was $4,707, compared with a rebate of $2,952 at this time last year.

To date this year the city has banked $63,582 compared to $49, 540 for the same time in 1976.

Rockdale's rebates showed a 22 percent increase, the July check for $4,369 comparing to $1,912 for July , 1976. Total rebates to date this year are $50,427, compared to $41,221 for 1976.

Antique Car Show Set For Downtown Mall

Plens for an antique car show in the Fall were announced by Charles Strode, chairman of the Cameron area Chamber of Commerce trade committee.

The event is scheduled for October 1 and will coincide with the annual autumn arts and crafts show, a function of the Chamber ladies committee.

The Horseless Carriage Club from the Houston area has agreed to bring a number of interesting antique cars to Cameron and they will be displayed on the mall downdown.

A special feature of the day will be a drawing for a miniature Model T, which will soon be on display at local banks. Proceeds from the Model T promotion will help defray expenses for the antique car display.

Information on tickets is available from members of the trade committee or at the Chamber office.

Inspection Fee To Double

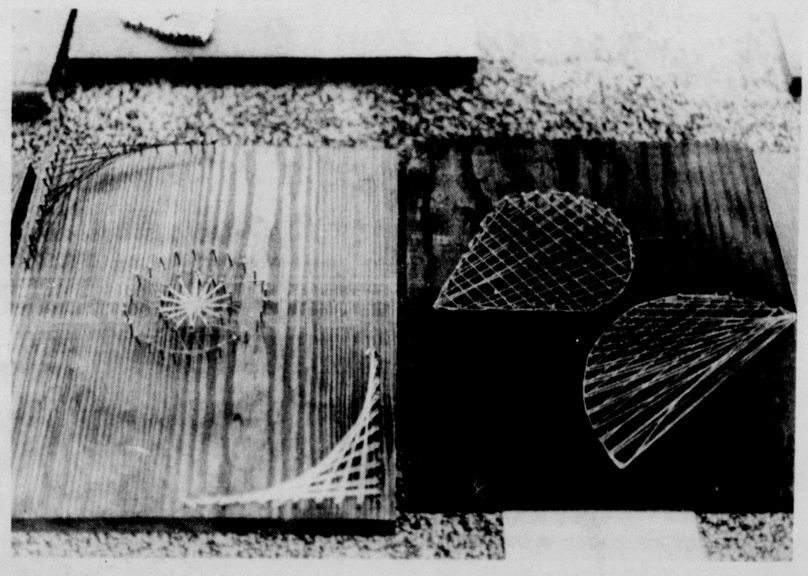
Captain Billy Sanders, area supervisor of the Texas Department of Public Safety's Motor Vehicle Inspection Program, advises the fee for annual vehicle inspection will be increased from $2 to $4 effective September 1, 1977.

The Captain stated that this is the first increase in fees in more than ten years.

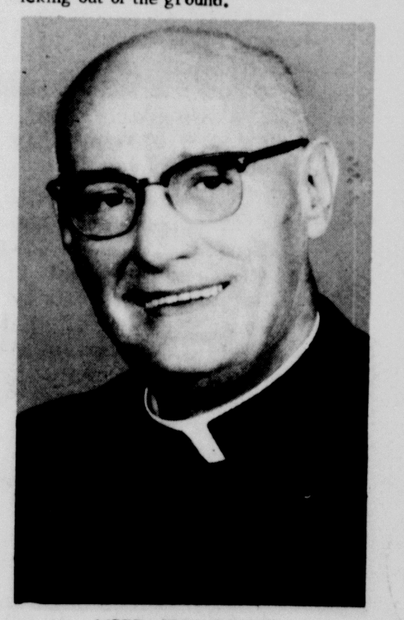
The new fee is $4 per vehicle, not including repair, of which $3 will go to the garage for labor and shop use while $1 will pay for the sticker and administration of the Department of Public Safety.

Inspection of mud flaps will be the only addition to the inspectors requirements.

Captain Sanders said that defects in vehicles are involved in only about 2% of all fatal accidents today compared to 13% before the inspection program was initiated in 1951.



THE SUMMER REC program produced quite a lot of art, both interesting and varied and created by ages 3 through adult. These photos show some of the art that was on exhibit at the library. The exhibit included drawings, paintings and numerous arts and crafts.



MSGR. JOHN GEISER

Msgr. Geiser To End 18 Years As Local Pastor

Msgr. John Geiser will end 18 years as pastor of St. Monica's Catholic Church in Cameron when he retires from the post August 1.

Members of his church parish will honor him at a luncheon at noon Sunday, July 24 at Simon George Hall. The event will be sponsored by St. Monica's Ladies Society.

Msgr. Geiser, who was plain "Father" to his congregation until April 2, can look back on growth for his church, including the addition of about 75 families following consolidation with Blessed Sacrament Church after it burned last year.

The church now numbers about 400 families, which is about 1600 people.

During Msgr. Geiser's leadership, the church was redecorated completely, and an addition was built for the Catholic school, which has since been closed. It is still used for church functions, however. And contracts have been let on remodeling of Simon George Hall.

Msgr. Geiser plans to remain in Cameron, where he will be available for various activities in the other parishes of the diocese. He will be in residence at 1105 E. 14 1/2 St.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

Right after Watergate when most of the culprits had been tried and convicted, newspaper pundits began writing about the post-Watergate morality, how the lessons of that big scandal would slow down law-breaking in high places, would frighten the short - cutters into toeing the mark, for a short while at least.

Most big-city columnists seem to know more about typewriters than human nature. Skullduggery kept right on going.

Witness the news about the rip-off of millions of dollars from the Small Business Administration by people who elected janitors as presidents of their company in order to qualify their firms as minority-run outfits.

Or how about all those Congressmen who're now checking their records and admitting that, by-the-way, they did get some of that South Korean money?

It looks like Watergate had as much effect on morality as hanging pickpockets in England a hundred years ago had on other pickpockets still on the loose.

The pickpockets discovered that the best time to lift people's purses was while they were staring goggle-eyed at the public hanging of a convicted pickpocket. They learned that when the trap door was sprung, the spectators were so transfixed by the gruesome sight that even an amateur could pick a pocket without being noticed.

This is a short letter this week. I'm going to go off by myself and think about human nature.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

118 Continues

Counties Succeeding Less...

In newspapers, for example, the fact of life is a continuing consolidation of ownership, much like farming operations throughout the country. Independent operations simply have a toucher time being as efficient as well as professional as conglomerate ownership. . . .to a point.

The County of Milam has a salary structure which has averaged about 91 per cent increases in the past decade, but which started in the mid-60s at depressed levels, compared to nearby counties.

What may be the difference between marketplace realities of agribusiness and say, industry and government? At least in Milam County?

One major difference is that the ratio of stated value to market value in terms of what a basic commodity like land is worth has kept up more in most sectors of the area economy. There has been greater turnover until recent years.

Reality is catching up with the County of Milam. Alcoa built an enormous smelter in the early '50s which meant about $200,000 annually in new tax revenue.

This is approximately half if not half of the tax income of Milam County. If stated land valuation in the county follows examples of what was cited in commissioners court the other day (a $100,000 offer for 75 acres and improvements on the county tax roll for $1120), then the County has indeed done a remarkable job of avoiding deficits until this year.

All this boils down to rural and town residents in 1976 wanting and voting for modernized law and enforcement, and getting it, only to find the men putting in longer - hours and producing results want compensation for those extra hours that other county employees probably don't produce. Why? Because other county employees are not asked to work what amounts to seven -day weeks.

But it is not just law enforcement costs. It is everything at a time of low ebb for agriculture commodity pricing. A couple of years ago these same commodities, except for cotton which now is more attractive, were yielding more, considerably more. In a couple of years, they again may be more attractive.

All the while, major projects like the $200 million TP&L generator are under construction and industry is working full force in Milam County. The employment rate here is 2.6 per cent, just about the lowest in Texas or the nation.

The County Judge says the average evaluation per acre on the tax roll is $10 to $11. We don't know what the average price of land is when it sells in Milam County, but if the county is using a 20 per cent ratio in evaluation, then five times $11 would be $55 per acre at the current evaluation.

No one in the past 25 years has bought much land at that price in Milam County, despite the difference of price between sand and blackland and a mixture between.

Because of Alcoa, Rockdale doubled and changed its community structure in earning capacity in the 1950s. In recent years, Cameron has rebuilt and expanded in terms of millions of dollars, still serving both as a light industry base and a center of agriculture.

Cameron has met responsibilities through fire and ambulance service to neighboring areas and has worked hard to create a County Youth Exposition Bldg., a center for rural and town residents and their kids.

Indeed, remarkable changes have occurred here. The County of Milam has responded with construction of a new jail, a new tax office and remodeled courthouse interior. County employees are making almost twice as much as a decade ago.

But the one uncontrollable variable, which any landowner, farmer, rancher, businessman, professional, industrialist, banker and housewife recognizes, is at work. And that uncontrolled variable is inflation, inflation which is historic.

Keeping up with it and fluctuating prices has been a major difficulty for the agri-business community. It has been a problem for us all.

The cost of law enforcement is up for consideration. But the real problem is coping in the marketplace with cost factors, largely beyond area control.

Town and country realities are inflation, how to run things and value things and how to keep the momentum which Milam County enjoys.

We all should remember those hundreds of other rural counties in Texas and the Southwest which have succeeded so much less.

Dateline Austin

Hill, Briscoe Rival Pollsters Convincing

Atty. Gen. John Hill and Gov. Dolph Briscoe have rival polls which convince them they can win the 1978 governor's race.

Hill's pollsters concede Briscoe is still out front, but they claim his advantage of incumbency is receding.

The attorney general's problems, the Hill survey maintains, "is to penetrate the consciousness of the masses who don't know him, to impress them favorably and to gain their support while maintaining the support of those who already prefer him over Briscoe."

The Hill poll concluded in one segment that 44 per cent of likely Democratic primary voters surveyed favored Briscoe, while 29 per cent favored Hill, and 27 per cent were undecided.

Pollsters for Hill also found a majority of voters are balky about re-electing a governor who would have served 10 years in office by the end of his next four-year term.

Briscoe's campaign manager said the governor has lost no basic strength and even has made gains since November, based on another private survey's findings.

Both Briscoe and Hill have campaign headquarters open here—although Hill has not formally announced.

Former Gov. Preston Smith is regarded as another possible candidate for governor in the 1978 Democratic primary election.

Courts Speak

The State Supreme Court unanimously removed from office District Judge Garth C. Bates of Houston, who was convicted of accepting a bribe.

In other recent action, the high court:

Invalidated an antiquities code provision used to stop demolition of three downtown Dallas buildings.

Took under consideration an appeal in an $800,000 judgment against Bristol-Myers drug company favoring a Corpus Christi man who lost his hearing after using an antibiotic for a hip injury.

To hold this down...

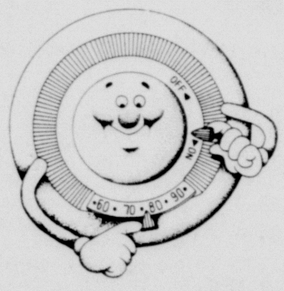
turn this up...



(your thermostat)

Many thousands of Texas Power & Light customers enjoy the comfort of air conditioning in their homes and for most it is the biggest factor in their electric bills during the summer months.

If your home is air-conditioned, you can hold down your electric bill by turning up your thermostat. On whole-house systems, set the thermostat on 78° or higher. On window units, adjust the cooling control to maintain a room temperature in the upper seventies. Turn the air conditioner off if you're going to be away from home for several days or longer.

Check filters every 30 days. Replace dirty disposable-type filters; clean permanent-type by manufacturer's directions. Keep furniture and draperies away from air outlets and returns; clean grills often. Close draperies and blinds to keep out direct sunlight. Keep fireplace damper closed.

Replace worn or missing weatherstripping and caulking around windows and doors. Ask an insulation dealer or a TP&L Service Representative to help you make certain your home is adequately insulated.

Farm Safety Week Ahead

The week of July 25-31 is Farm Safety Week -- an annual nationwide observance launched in 1944 to help reduce accident losses impairing wartime farm production.

A sampling of the 169 accidental farm deaths recorded by the Texas Farm Bureau for 1976 indicates that accident prevention efforts are still timely and necessary today.

In Anderson County, for instance, a man fishing from the bank, fell into a stock pond and drowned. A house fire in Leon County resulted in a woman's death when she was cleaning with gasoline.

In Willacy, a tractor rolled over into a drainage ditch killing its driver. And, more than half of the 34 firearms deaths were attributed to guns accidentally dischargin while being loaded or carried.

Built around the theme "Safety is a Good Investment," this years Farm Safety Week activities emphasize the wisdom of making a personal and financial investment in safety to help cut the human and economic costs of accidents.

"Farm and ranch people can achieve much by investing a little time and personal effort into adopting safer ways of working, driving and playing," notes Joe L. Smetana, Texas Safety Association vice president for farm and ranch. "And that costs nothing!"

Extra protection can be had, he ways, with a modest financial investment in: safety training, personal protective equipment (goggles, safety shoes, bump caps), tractor overturn protection, smoke detectors, fire extinguishers and other safety devices.

4-H CLUB NEWS

By Joseph D. Janak, Jr.

Several important events have gone on over the last week in Milam County.

First of all July 6th, Vanessa Marak, Barbara Winkler, Ray Marak and Christopher Riola were judged for the Gold Star Award. This is the highest award that a 4-H boy and girl can receive in their county. There will be a banquet in October at which time the winners will be announced.

Friday, July 8 our 4-H Project Fair was held. There was a fairly good turnout on hand. The majority of the contestants participated in the clothing an arts and crafts section, while other sizeable entries were in horticulture and baked and canned foods.

Blue, red and white ribbons were awarded to contestants with the majority being in the blue and red catagory.

Every 4-Hler who didn't attend the 4-H camp in Rockdale July 14 sure did miss a big one. It started off at 10 a.m. with over 50 participating.

Tours in the morning consisted of the Aycock Center, of which much work is being done to restore it and provide services to the people of need in the area; the Rockdale Reporter and the Rockdale State Bank.

It was then followed by a sack lunch , baseball and other games and trip to the pool. Everyone seemed to have a grand-ole-time in the water. Some people sure have long fingernails though.

After being dunked several hundred times, a weiner roast with marshmallows, followed by juicy watermelons almost made the day; but not for Milam County 4-H'ers. They then paid the Rockdale Skating Rink a visit where they slid, scraped and scalped their elbows until they knew how to roll on those little wheels.

Prizes were awarded to the best all-around boy and girl camper. Since they were all good campers, names were drawn from a box. Jon York won a nifty tool set while Rhonda Biar received a beautiful necklace.

The 4-H camp turned out to be a big success. Thanks to all the leaders who made it possible, for everyone seemed to have a great time.

Coming up Thursday, July 21, the top county recordbooks will go to Brenham where they will be judged in the District level.

July 19-22, six 4-H'ers from Milam County will be attending Texas 4-H Congress. These are: Peter Riola, Barbar Winkler, Gerry Mitchan, Sandy Vogelpohl. Beverly Biar and Curtis Wise.

Lisa Davidson was one of the top 20 contestants in the District Horse Show to qualify for the State Horse Show. The finals will be held at the Astro-Arena in Houston July 28-30. She will be participating in the halter gelding class, pole bending and barrels event.

Good Hay Crop Still Possible

Although hay making has been limited in some sections of Texas due to dry conditions, there is still plenty of time to get the barn filled before the north wind starts blowing.

"Good to average hay crops have been harvested in parts of the state, but recent dry weather has limited production in many areas," points out Al Novasad, forage and pasture specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Since most barns are empty this spring after the hard winter we had, producers need to harvest an abundance of hay."

Early cuttings have been short in eastern sections due to dry weather, and now parts of North Central, Central and South Central Texas are dry. So, hay production has generally been spotted to this point, notes Novosad.

However, all is not lost!

Novosad points out that a good hay crop can still be made over the state if late summer and early fall rains come on schedule. And, according to the National Weather Service, the outlook is promising for such moisture, especially for the southern and eastern halves of the state.

"Since there is still plenty of time for forages to grow after the rains come, producers should go ahead and fertilize their hay meadows now," suggests Novosad. "Then, grasses can make rapid growth once the moisture comes."

The forage specialist reminds producers to give particular attention to tht stage of grass growth when harvesting hay crops. Early grass growth with an abundance of tender leaves and a lack of hard stems makes for top quality, high proten hay.

"The real key to good quality hay is to fertilize properly and then to harvest at the righ stage of growth," says Novosad.

ENGAGED - Mr. and Mrs. Royce Baggerly of Rockdale and James C. Gilliland of Milano announce the engagement of their daughter Marilyn to Charles Spriggs of Killeen. Charles is the son of Major (Ret.) and Mrs. Walter E. Spriggs of Temple. An August 20 wedding is planned at First Christian Church in Rockdale.

Back-To-School Clothes With Child In Mind

In school clothes, it's the Who, Why, What, When and Where that counts--and it can be a meaningful occasion when children are part of the planning and shopping, says Mrs. Marlene Odle-Kemp, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Style is important. Young people want to wear what their friends wear," she emphasizes.

Other major factors are the child's growth rate and activities--along with fabric types and garment care, she says.

In planning, make a list of specfic items needed. Decide on quantity with growth patterns in mind. Consider buying only two or theee outfits to mix and match, if the child will outgrow them in about three months, the specialist advises.

Choose styles and fabrics that will "grow along" -- raglan sleeves, cuffed pants, wide hems in dresses and tops can add to the life span of a garment..

Stretchy knits are popular, comfortable and "easy care," especially cotton or cotton/polyester. Durable fabrics like denim and corduroy withstand rough play and many washings.

"If a child needs costumes, uniforms or any special clothing for activities, budget for them, too-they can be important to children. They can wreck budgets if unplanned, though. Decide if perhaps mix-and-match will serve here, also, if parts of these special buys could be everyday wardrobe-extenders," Mrs. Odle-Kemp suggests.

Be especially careful of shoes, she cautions. No hand-me-downs; this forces a child's foot to conform to the footprint in the shoe. Have a reputable shoe salesman determine the child's size.

Buy at least two pairs of sturdy shoes that support the ankle--and interchange them for longer wear.

HAPPY TRAVELING

Traveling can be exciting, and what you take with you on a trip can influence your enjoyment. Before leaving on your next out-of-town jaunt, consult this packing checklist to help ensure you're heading for a happy time.

* Clothes. Expert travelers travel light. Take along coordinates and separates that can be interchanged for several looks, at least two pairs of comfortable shoes, and accessories to "dress-up" and "dress-down" outfits.

* Laundry can be a bother on a trip. Bring along some mild detergent for handwashables. And pack a tube of K2r® Spot-lifter to remove stains from non-washable items—apply it to dirty spots, let dry to a fine, white powder and soil can be brushed away.

* Toiletries and cosmetics. Transfer the amounts of each item you'll need into reusable plastic containers—this prevents accidental breakage or leakage of bottles in your suitcase and also cuts luggage weight.

Caulking Can Save Energy

"Caulk it," and Chalk it up to money saved, but before buying caulking compounds, locate air-leak areas, advises Glenda Moor, housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Sealing cracks around doors and windows can reduce cool air losses from 15 to 37 per cent, which saves money and cooling time, Ms. Moore says.

"Caulking will cut down cold air losses and keep out dirt, dust, noise and moisture. It is a tedious job, but most homeowners can do it themselves."

Critical exterior areas of house, mobile home or apartment that requir e sealing periodically are window frames and sashes, door frames, chimneys, and joints between siding and windowsills.j Also between eaves and moldings, chimney flashings and the roof--as well as between vent pipes, water faucets, wire connections and siding,

Modern Pioneers Choose RVs Over Wagons

Americans once conquered the wide open spaces with the live-in prairie schooner. Today, they're rediscovering the land in its successor--the recreational vehicle.

The hardy pioneers who jounced, bounced, and careened their way west would be amazed by the comforts available in modern covered wagons. Recreational vehicles offer an array of luxuries ranging from air conditioning and wall-to-wall carpeting to freezers and open fireplaces.

Millions on the Road

Prices range from about $800 for a small canvas-sided trailer to $40,000 for large deluxe motor homes. Cost is no deterrent. At the last count, the Recreation Vehicle Industry Association estimated ahat 6,000,000 units regularly hit the road in the United States, 1,000,000 in Canada.

The camping motorist was a fixture on America's byways and highways long before the current camping and traveling craze began after World War II, the National Geographic Society says.

As early as 1905, drivers were taking to the woods with big steamer trunks fastened to the backs of their cars, large umbrellas fixed over the driver's seats.

A few cars were equipped with ovens. This optional extra consisted of an asbestos-lined metal box with the exhaust manifold passing through it. Potatoes baked in the box while the driver chugged along enjoying the scenery.

By 1920 more than a million motorists were going camping, and 300 cities welcomed them with municipal campsites. Unwelcome were "Tin Can Tourists," an association of free spirits who attempted to travel without money. Their symbol was a tin can tied to the radiator cap.

Mass production of the Model T in the 1920's spawned a new breed of contraptions called "homes on wheels". The only limitation to these zany do-it-yourself projects was the owner's imagination.

Curtains with Tassels

Some models boasted chrome fittings, stained glass windows, and tasseled curtains. Others had bunks, sinks, screen door, and a swivel seat for the driver.

A Model T truck converted by two Michigan boys featured running water, a sink, and a built-in bookcase complete with Atwater-Kent radio and spring powered phonograph.

Recalls a veteran motor camping enthusiast: "We had electric lights, too, which we plugged into city current when we could find a hookup. There just weren't too many places like that though, and we had to run off the battery most of the time. In camp, we used a cadillac generator hooked to a gas motor from a washing machine for charging the extra battery."

Completing the cycle, many young people today are creating their own recreational vehicles from delivery trucks, vans and old school buses.

One young owner of a customized truck even warms it with a heating system from the good old days-- a pot-bellied stove.

ELABORATE recreational vehicles are nothing new. These motor campers took all the comforts of home to the back roads in the early 1920s. Their "bungalow car" was fitted with electric lights, indoor plumbing, and a combination bed-sitting room. Even the driver's seat could be converted into an upper and lower berth.

Baseball Roundup

Then Cameron Little League Braves downed the Colts 12-2 last Friday in a playoff game in four innings to become the 1977 champions.

Mariano de la Rosa was the winning pitcher, scattering three hits and striking out nine batters. He had previously pitched two no-hit ball games in league play.

The Braves powered their way to the championship by slugging four home runs off of losing pitcher Paul Hoelscher. De la Rosa and Trevor Turner hit one home run apiece and Will Haynes hit two.

The Braves will be representing Cameron in district Little League action in Temple July 25-30.

Braves players include Donny Carr, Mariano de la Rosa, Thomas Flores, Will Haynes, Andra Kelley, Kelvin Kelm, Mike Lindley, Billy Fred McCutchen, Roderrick Powell, Neal Trubee, Trevor Turner, Derrick Vybiral and Lynda Vybiral.

Coaches are Bill McCutchen, Nonito Martinez and Joe Janak.

The Cameron Cardinals split a double header with the Belton Eagles Sunday, squeezing by on a score of 6-5.

The Cards took the second game 11-5 with Kenneth Scott hitting two round trippers for the Cards.

The Cards will travel to Rockdale Sunday to meet the Rockdale Clippers at Fair Park Field.

The Panama Reds defeated the Salado Pirates 12-0 at a Sunday game at Colonial Field, with Rolph Contreras winning pitcher.

The Reds will play a double header here Sunday meting the franklin Parrots for the first game and the Bryan Cubs for the second. First game starts at 1:30 p.m. at Colonial Field.

Legislators Pass 88 Bills Which Will Effect TP&W Department

AUSTIN -- Texas legislators in the 1977 session passed 88 bills which in one way or another effect the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, legilation ranging from an increase in nonresident hunting license fees to a bill which raises fees for certificates of title on boats.

All of the new laws will affect outdoorsmen in varying degrees.

Two nonresident hunting license fees go into effect September 1 -- a genreal nonresident license for $100.75 and a small game nonresident license which sells for $37.75. The general license is valid for hunting any species of game which legally may be taken in the state and is required to hunt deer, turkey, elk, antelope, bear, javelina and auodad only in those Panhandle counties where there is a season.

Nonresident fishing licnese fees will increase to $10.50 September 1. Citizens of the Republic of Mexico who are fishing in coastal waters require no fishing license.

Resident fishing license fees will post a modest 25-cent increase in September. Fifty cents of the $4.50 resident license will go to license sales deputies.

Exempt hunting licenses for Texas residents also increase slightly -- from 25 cents to $1.25. These licenses are for Texans under the age of 17 or over 65 years of age.

Effective date of both hunting and fishing licenses has been standardized. Now both licenses will be valid from September 1 of one year to August 31 of the following year. This piece of legislaton took effect June 1 and those fishing licenses purchased between then and Sept. 1 , 1977, will be valid until Aug. 31, 1978. Those fishing licenses bought before June 1 will expire one year from date of purchase.

Residents of hospitals, state schools, and blind persons and disable veterans of the armed forces will be entitled to special consideration when it comes to fishing licenses.

No license is required of those residents of state schools and hospitals who are engaged in recreational fishing as part of medically aproved therapy under supervision of hospital or school personnel.

Veterans of the U.S. armed forces who suffer from service-connected disabilities rated at 60 percent or more may buy special fishing licenses of $1.25.

Inland fisherman in Texas will be prohibited from collecting and transporting as bait fish black bass, crappie, catfish except bullheads, walleye, striped bass and their hybrids, trout, white bass or northern pike.

Game fish taken illegally and confiscated by P&WD wardens now may be donated to charitable institutions, hospitals or needy persons.

In past years, native bass, catfish and hybrid sunfish were available free from P&WD fish hatcheries to landowners for stocking in private ponds. Now the legislature has given the department authority to charge for such stockings.

Parks and Wildlife Commissioners will cosider rates for such fish as proposed by the department's inland fisheries staff at the July 22 commission meeting.

Game wardens now have authority to remove without a warrant illegally placed nets, seines, trawls, traps or other fishing devices from the state's inside waters. New laws give the P&WD's law enforcement division the right to hold as evidence such illegal fishing devices. And the devices can be destroyed if the person charged with illegal fishing is found guilty. They would be returned if th owner is found innocent.

That's why someone like former professional basketball player George Lehmann enjoys teaching youngsters the basics of the game as a member of the PRO-Keds Advisory Staff. Helped by innovative devices like the portable PRO-Keds Toss-Back (shown above), Lehmann travels around the country for Uniroyal, giving free clinics to help young people get ahead in the competitive world of sports.

Soviet oil, gas

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — While many eyes are on the oil of the Middle East, the eyes of two Texas scholars are on the oil and natural gas potential of the Soviet Union.

An economist, Edward Hewett, and a geographer, George Hoffman, of The University of Texas have begun a research project to assess the role of the Soviet Union in the future of world oil and gas markets.

Dr. Hewett will develop an econometric model to predict Soviet exports in oil and gas in the next decade. Dr. Hoffman will explore the impact of Soviet exports on Western Europe and the probable competition from future North Sea exports.

Probably nothing in the world expresses such perfect trust as a dog. He has absolute confidence in you, and if you are like most people, you never willingly let him down.

In fact, you may find yourself wishing that you had someone to rely on as your puppy does on you. But that's not the fate of humans. God gave man intelligence and ability so he could be self-reliant.

However, God gave us also the chance to find a faith to sustain us all through life. And He gave us His house —on earth — the Church — in which to begin to understand that faith.

Are you a regular member in that house?

Improper Tire Inflation Costs

Texas motorists could have saved at least 80 million gallons of gasoline worth about $46.8 million in 1976 had they properly inflated their tires, the Tire Industry Council estimates.

"The simple act of keeping the right amount of air in automobile tires will make an important contribution to energy conservation," said Council Chairman Malcolm R. Lovell, Jr. "Proper inflation will benefit the car owner by saving both gasoline and tires."

Properly inflated tires can add five percent to gasoline mileage, or an extra mile per gallon, because theyroll easier according to industry experts.

The correct air pressure also extends tread wear, which in turn saves oil because many components of tires come from crude oil, Lovell pointed out. It takes seven gallons of crude oil to make a tire, industry sources say.

A study by the National Bureau of Standards shows that more than one out of four cars has at least one seriously underinflated tire. A seriously underinflated tire is four or more pounds of air pressure below the amount recommended by the vehicle manufacturer in the car owner's manual.

More than 8 billion gallons of gasoline were consumed by an estimated 8.6 million cars, trucks, busses and other vehicles in Texas last year, according to the Federal Highway Administration. The Council estimates that 80 percent of that amount--or6.4 billion gallans--was used by automobiles. A five percent savings of that figure would be 320 million gallons.

Thus the savings lost by one-fourth of the Texas drivers with underinflated tires would total 80 million gallons. Based on the recent average U.S. price of 58.6 cents per gallon, the oss due to underinflation would amount to more than $46.8 million.

The American Petroleum Institute says the entire U.S. consumes 100 billion ballons of gasoline a year -- more than 1,000 gallons for every automobile on the road. A five percent savings on that amount of gas would come to at least 50 gallons for each car or a savings of at least $29.30 per car annually on gas alone.

"Overall, American motorists could save at least 800 million gallons of gasoline, or 41 llion barrels of crude oil, a year if they would only inflate their tires with free air," Lovel said. "Total domestic demand for crude oil has been running about 20.2 million barrels a day. So the amount which would be saved by proper tire care would satisfy all the oil needs of the U.S. for two days."

Training Available For Vets

At least one out of ten Vietnam-era GI Bill students has received refresher or deficiency courses to qualify them for higher education under the GI Bill's "free entitlement" provisions, Jack Coker, director, VA regional office, Waco, reported today.

More than 760,000 persons have taken advantage of the training opportunities without depletion of their basic GI Bill eligibility. The trainees represent more than 11 percent of the 6.9 million persons who have trained under the current GI Bill since 1966.

Eligible GI Bill students may received full benefits while training for high school completion. Others who have completed high school but need refresher or remedial courses for entrance into training, also may take the necessary courses on a free-entitlement basis.
